

A new year offers a chance for us to consider what we want to keep in our lives and what we don't. So, it's fitting that on this New Year's Day, we have the reminder that of God's love for the world in being willing to send His son to live among us and then ultimately die for our sins. Through Christ's life, we can better know God, and through his death, we can have the chance to eventually be with God.

As you head into this new year with your blank slate and your list of goals, remember that you're not in this alone. Jesus is there to walk alongside you and demonstrate how we might be better by praying for a better understanding of God's will for us and in our lives.
